

24 February 1976

SUBJECT: Office of Legislative Counsel as Focal Point for Congressional Matters

2. Now that things are settling down, I think it would be helpful if you would remind your people that the Director expects this office to be the focal point for monitoring our relationships with the Hill as set forth in [REDACTED]. Pending the complete wind down of the activities of the Select Committees, I realize that the Review Staff and the Special Counsel to the Director are in special situations.
